ITF Strategic Pillars

Strategic Pillar I

Reducing threats from mines, explosive remnants of war and other at-risk weapons and ammunition.

Strategic Pillar II

Facilitating safe, long-term development and building resilience of conflict-affected communities.

ITF Fields of Activity

ITF ENHANCING HUMAN SECURITY

Clearance of Landmines and Other Explosive Remnants of War (ERW)

- 139.6 km² of land cleared:
 - 136.3 km² in SE Europe,
 - 2.1 km² in South Caucasus,
 - 1.3 km² in Lebanon.
- 82,290 landmines and ERW destroyed:
 - 81,253 SE Europe,
 - 1,037 in Lebanon.

Mines/ERW are still direct threats to human lives.

Victim Assistance for Landmine/ERW Victims

- 1,277 rehabilitated victims of landmines and ERW.
- 17,000 victims of landmines and ERW received psychosocial assistance.
- 880 victims of landmines and ERW received socio-economic assistance.

Comprehensive rehabilitation enables reintegration into society.

Risk Education for Landmines and ERW

- 440,000 people educated directly and 610,000 family members educated indirectly, about the danger of landmines and ERW.

Mine risk education programs directly reduce the possibility of accidents.

Physical Security and Stockpile Management of Weapons and Ammunition

- Safe and reliable storage of weapons and ammunition, as well as providing professional training based on best practices and procedures in the field of weapons and ammunition stockpile management.

Facilities for the storage of ammunition stocks can often be 'time bombs'.

Destruction of Surplus Weapons and Ammunition

- 864,488 destroyed weapons and ammunition in Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Montenegro, Croatia, Lithuania and Kyrgyz Republic.

Urgent Response to Unplanned Explosions in Warehouses of Weapons and Ammunition

- 277,500 destroyed weapons and ammunition after unplanned detonations of ammunition depots in Albania and Bulgaria.

Capacity Building

- Development of effective and resilient national capacities at the community or state level, capable of addressing the mine/ERVV problem and other post-conflict challenges over a number of years (introduction of appropriate national laws and standards, development of systems of governance, infrastructure building, project management, etc.).

Capacity building creates an important contribution to national ownership of the problem and its solution.
